Alternative Sources of Financial Aid

Due to the current status of the Nation's economy most of the student loan providers either do not offer this type of assistance or they are not accepting new applications. Please contact the providers with the number provided on their Web sites for information on when they will be accepting new applications.

Payment Plans

Contact your school's Financial Aid Office for information regarding tuition payment plans that allow you to pay as you go. Contact your employer to see if they offer an Employee Reimbursement Plan. This may also allow eligible students to defer tuition payment while awaiting reimbursement. If you are a graduate student you may want to talk to your department head for previously awarded scholarships in your area of study.

Alternative/Private Student Loans

The terms and conditions of these private educational loans are similar to the Federal Stafford Loan. Often students who are not eligible for Federal Student Loans or students who want to supplement their Federal Loans will apply. Consideration is based on the creditworthiness of the applicant or co-signer. Contact the lender to apply, or for requirements, interest rates, and fees which can vary among lenders. There are no federal forms to complete when applying for these loans.
